LYNCHBURG WINS FROM GOOBERS

Hannifan Hit Hard, and Final Score is 7 to 3.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., July 14.—Lynchburg hit Hannifan hard to-day, when his counted, and the "Goobers" went down to 3.

Brandon was hit rather freely, too, but no scores would have been made by the visitors but for errors, either fielding or battery. Both teams fought hard for victory, but it was the stick work of the Shoemakers that did the work of the score.

Lynchburg, Pa., July 14.—Pittsburg won in the ninth inning by scoring four runs. Mathewson, who had been invincible before, went into the air.

He gave Clarke a base on balls. Wagner went to first on an error by pitcher Leach. Short Singles by Flynn and Flynn scored Clarke and Wagner. Wilson was caught at the plate. O'Connor was sent to first on balls, filling the bases. Mathewson gave Byrne four balls, forcing in the run that tied the score. After giving Leach two bad balls, Mathewson was taken out and Ames substituted. He gave two more bad balls and forced in the winning run. The score:

Ernstwiler-Navy Champion Goes to Penitentiary for One Year.
Hampden, Va., July 14.—William Duran, erstwhile champion pugilist and baseball twirler of the United States, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by a jury in the Circuit Court here to-day on a charge of being a principal in a prize-fight. Duran was in the first round of a ten-round mill at Bay Shore last month by a negro bruiser named David Scarborough. The fight was witnessed by an immense crowd of sports. Ten indictments were returned by the grand jury, and Duran was the first man put on trial. Eight of the other participants skipped out.

SOME BASEBALL TALK
By HALF NELSON.
Revelle's awful drubbing yesterday was not entirely the fault of Revelle, and although he was used up pretty badly there are excuses. In the first place the ball was hard to handle. After it had rolled about in the water off the outfield and the mud of the diamond there was no certainty about it at all. Then the two-base hits might have been put-outs if the fielders had not had some difficulty in getting about.

The diamond was really pitiful. The rain that had fallen during the afternoon had collected about in splashes, and all that could be done, and was done, could not save those splashes from being pitfalls for the unwary. The ball would nearly stick in the mud when it hit, and the fielders would mire.

Wallace came up yesterday in the fourth inning intent on getting a home run. The first ball he hit went to the left field fence, and came within a few feet of going over, but it fell foul. Then came a couple of balls and the mighty swat that put the ball clean beyond the second line of trees on the other side of the fence. Owing to the exceedingly small crowd Wallace's collection was not nearly so much as it has been on former occasions.

The continued rain, by the way, has cut a big hole in the treasury of the Virginia League clubs. The players' salaries and the expenses of the clubs go on whether the games are played or not, and when rain stops all activity.

Jack Lawlor is still working hard for batters to take the places of some of the Colts who have lost their eyes. The second game is not for above them, and by a right peart flurry they can climb up. A flurry on the other side of the ledger will send them kiting to the deepest hole in the book. Danville is away and gone at the top of the pole without a contender.

WHERE THEY PLAY TO-DAY.
Roanoke at Richmond.
Danville at Norfolk.
Petersburg at Lynchburg.

Two congested hits that selected spots to land everywhere in the Richmond ball park except where there was a Colt waiting, a bunch of rather nifty base runners, and the eagle eye of Judge Shaughnessy, tied the mortal anguish of one Smiling Dutch Revelle to the tail-piece of the Highlander band wagon, and carried the first game to Roanoke yesterday by the score of 5 to 3. The man who made the first base on error, a double play, and a home run, had a $2500 worth of insurance, and before the game was ended his smile had changed to an expression as gloomy as the weather which fell intermittently throughout the game.

Just by way of explanation, it may be said that five of the twelve clouts that Revelle delivered up to the Highlanders were as good for two bases as ten cents is for a toady. Seven of the swings went for a base apiece, except for fast fielding on the part of the outside Colts, they would have gone further, and the Colts would have fared worse. Wallace was high gun for Richmond, with a home run and two singles.

Revelle was handicapped by weather, which kept the ball soggy, and which made the diamond more like a patch of land in the Dismal Swamp than a real baseball ground. Large patches of chalk mud were laid at inconvenient intervals about the diamond, and when a hit hit those patches or a fielder landed in one it was an even bet as to whether it was a double or a single.

That was the end. The rain which spattered through the fourth and fifth innings stopped the game. Revelle played badly, but he had a bunch of men behind him who were nailed down to theirs. In the eighth a rifle was made, but after Shaw had scored on a double, the deluge began, and those who thought Revelle had gone bailing in the first inning realized that they hadn't seen any ballooning before. Five hits were pulled out of the blue in that fifth inning, and three of them were double headers. Three runs came home and Revelle's goat bleated in captivity.
